About Into Your Hands

Into Your Hands (IYH) was founded in March 2007. IYH provides funds to local, community-based, and faith-based non-governmental organizations (NGOs) and schools in rural Uganda, East Africa. We work to improve the lives of children and families ravaged by HIV/AIDS, disease, and poverty, through education and micro-enterprise development. Supporting both school-based and family-based income-generating activities will strengthen the capacity of the individuals in the community to afford social services, including education, and will help to defeat poverty and disease. Currently, we work with compassionate local and religious leaders who run community-initiated schools and children's programs in the Makondo village, a rural area in the Masaka District of Uganda, East Africa.

Together with our Ugandan partners, our hands become the hands of mercy, the hands of hope, and the hands that work to empower our Ugandan brothers and sisters to live lives of dignity.

Hands of Mercy Orphans and Vulnerable Children Program provides care for the most at risk.

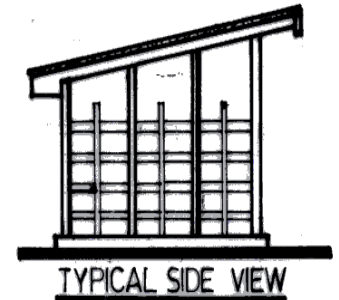

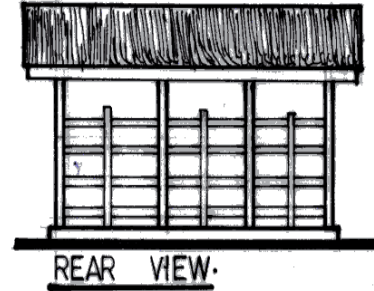

Hands of Hope Scholarship Recipient.

Bunk beds and bed nets provided through the Hands at Work Program.

What a Uganda Piglet Needs

Each child who receives a Uganda Piglet will learn how to build a shelter. A piglet shelter will keep the piglet safe and clean.

Piglets also need vitamins, de-worming, and regular visits from Kalungi Godfrey, the project manager.

A veterinary officer will take care of the piglets if they get sick and will provide the vitamins and medicine for de-worming.

Proper Care and Feeding of your Uganda Piglet

Your Uganda Piglet needs to have safe shelter, clean food and medicine to guard against disease. You can continue to support your Uganda Piglet by helping Into Your Hands purchase much needed supplies. With your piggy bank, you can begin to save money for the necessary supplies your Uganda Piglet needs daily to survive. You can help by starting a savings plan today. Set a goal to save money each week to purchase one of the items listed on the Uganda Piglet Wish List below:

About Uganda

About 50% of the population in Uganda are children who are poor, orphaned, disabled and neglected. The combined curse of HIV/AIDS, malaria, and poverty, has devastated entire generations wreaking havoc on the family structure and all aspects of family life. Since the early 1980's, when AIDS was first discovered in Uganda, 100's of 1000's of mothers, fathers, aunts, and uncles have died. Disease has eliminated the most productive members of society and today 9,000,000 people in Uganda live on less than $1 a day. As a result, 8 million children are classified as "vulnerable." The children suffer the heart-break of watching as their mothers and fathers die knowing that they may soon be one of the 2.2 million orphans living in poverty, alone or at the mercy of abusive guardians. Overcome with anxiety and fear, their question is, "Who will take care of me? How will I survive?" Making an average yearly income of less than $240 a year, families struggle daily, weakened by disease or hunger, some only eating one meal a day. It is difficult for families to feed themselves and their children, let alone the extended families that fold into the household. In Makondo, where IYH is active, there are close to 9,000 orphans and 78 child-headed households.

Send A Piglet Home Program

Thank you for purchasing this magical piggy bank. With this piggy bank, you provide the possibility of a fruitful livelihood for an African family. This piggy bank represents the female piglet you purchased for an orphaned or vulnerable child in Makondo, Uganda. Twenty-five percent of the children in this area have lost one or both parents. This often means that they are left to the care of other adults in the community or to find their own way in life. Because of a lack of nutritional food, 38% of the children in Uganda suffer the effects of malnutrition, such as: stunted growth, poor health, and mental ailments. Your sponsorship of this Uganda Piglet will provide a means to improve the wellbeing of a vulnerable child and an entire family.

Luke Bbira and part of his family. Students like Luke will benefit from your sponsorship of a Uganda Piglet .

Each child who is fortunate enough to receive a piglet will first learn how to take care of the Uganda Piglet. By purchasing this piggy bank, you are making this dream come true for a child in Makondo, Uganda. Through the educational process, each child will learn how to care for the Uganda Piglet. The child and their family will build the Uganda Piglet an enclosed shelter to protect it from predators. When the female Uganda Piglet is mature, she will be bred and will give birth to 8-10 babies.

These offspring will then be sold at the local market or raised for further breeding and sold later. The income from the sale of the offspring of your Uganda Piglet will help the child and their family purchase nourishing food, living supplies and will help provide for educational opportunities. From each litter of piglets born to your Uganda Piglet, one baby is donated back to the Send A Piglet Home Program. This generates a sustainable resource of piglets which perpetuates the program into the future.

Meet Kalungi Godfrey. He is the Project Coordinator for the Send A Piglet Home Program sponsored by Into Your Hands. He will ensure that the new owners of your sponsored Uganda Piglet are providing your piglet with proper care.
